Louisville Tradition Returns 7–11 PM with Random Cocktails, Free Chili, and Support for Local Animal Rescue

Louisville, KY — Belle Noble Hospitality Group and The Village Anchor announce the return of a beloved Louisville Thanksgiving tradition: Kevin Grangier will once again step behind the bar as guest bartender at The Sea Hag Pub at The Village Anchor on Thanksgiving Night, 7–11 PM.

Now in its 12th year, the post-holiday event has grown into an annual gathering for Louisville locals, neighbors, and holiday visitors who enjoy the humor, energy, and spontaneity of Grangier’s “one-night-only” appearance behind the bar.

Guests can expect:

- Random cocktails until the booze and beer run out
- Free chili while it lasts
- Proceeds supporting local Animal Rescue efforts
- A lighthearted Thanksgiving tradition at one of Louisville’s favorite pubs

“Thanksgiving night is one of my favorite traditions at The Village Anchor,” said Kevin Grangier, Founder of Belle Noble Hospitality Group. “The Sea Hag is the perfect backdrop for a fun, relaxed evening with friends and neighbors — and supporting Animal Rescue makes it even better.”

The event is open to the public and runs 7–11 PM, Thanksgiving Night only.
